The Crimson Tide's success in 2024 was built on a foundation of strong defense and efficient offense. The defense, led by All-American linebacker Will Anderson Jr., allowed just 16.3 points per game, which ranked third in the nation. The offense, led by quarterback Bryce Young, averaged 45.6 points per game, which ranked second in the nation.

Young had a phenomenal season, throwing for 4,872 yards and 50 touchdowns with just five interceptions. He also rushed for 1,009 yards and 17 touchdowns. Anderson was equally impressive, recording 128 tackles, 17.5 tackles for loss, and 10 sacks.

The Crimson Tide's road to the national championship was not without its challenges. They faced several tough opponents during the regular season, including a 20-19 victory over the Texas A&M Aggies and a 35-28 victory over the LSU Tigers.

In the College Football Playoff, the Crimson Tide defeated the Kansas State Wildcats 45-20 in the semifinals before facing the Ohio State Buckeyes in the national championship game.

The national championship game was a rematch of the 2023 College Football Playoff National Championship Game, which the Buckeyes won 42-35. The Crimson Tide were determined to avenge their loss and played with a sense of urgency from the start.

Alabama jumped out to a 21-0 lead in the first quarter and never looked back. Young threw for 321 yards and three touchdowns, while running back Jahmyr Gibbs rushed for 132 yards and two touchdowns.

The Crimson Tide's defense was also dominant, holding the Buckeyes to just 24 points and forcing three turnovers.

The victory was a special moment for Alabama head coach Nick Saban, who won his seventh national championship in 15 seasons with the Crimson Tide.

The 2024 season was a historic one for the Alabama Crimson Tide football team. They won their 16th national championship, finished the season with a perfect 15-0 record, and established themselves as one of the greatest college football teams of all time.
